

MORE MEN TO JOIN GEN. KELLY'S ARMY.

SECOND ARMY STARTS FROM OAKLAND, CAL.

They Hope to Reach Washington as Soon as the Main Body Does and From Present Indications They Will Be Able to Win By a Neck.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 23.—The second industrial army formed in this city broke camp this morning, eight hundred strong. They hope to join the Kelley army before it reaches Chicago.

NEOLA, Iowa, April 23.—Gen. Kelly began his "on to Chicago" movement yesterday. He ended his day's march with a spectacular welcome which will be the talk of Pottawattamie county for the next decade. His 1,800 commonwealers were escorted over the winding clay road by the farmers, many of whom came twenty-five miles, with brass bands. It was the strangest spectacle Iowa ever saw. Well in front of the long line of battered humanity rolled the eighteen wagons of provisions, loaded heaping full, and as many more wagons were waiting in front of Neola city hall. They were the substantial evidences of the Iowa farmers' movement to feed and care for Kelly's army until the Mississippi river flows across the line of march.

This morning the farmers and citizens of Pottawattamie county massed 150 two-horse teams and box wagons in Neola and the entire Kelly contingent was carried to Avoca, eighteen miles further east. Tuesday morning the Cass county farmers will carry the army to Atlantic, twenty miles east of Avoca, and in relays of fifteen to twenty miles a day, either on foot or in farmers' wagons, the Kellyites will reach Des Moines. This is as far as the line of march is definitely known. Des Moines people have told Kelly that they would feed and house the army when it arrived at the state capital and held out strong hopes that from Des Moines the army would go to Chicago by rail.

Saturday afternoon Kelly positively declined to accept the invitation brought by 2,000 Council Bluffs workmen to go back to Council Bluffs and said that he would move east in the morning at 7 o'clock. He came within an hour and a half of making his word good, for at 8:30 o'clock the army broke its western camp and, escorted by fifty sympathizers on horseback, took the road to Underwood, six miles east. At 11 o'clock the little town was reached. Flags and streamers brightened the principal street and a platform built directly in the road was filled with committees of welcome. The women of the little village scoured out their wash-boilers and made barrels of coffee, which was served to the men as they sat in groups around the platform. The procession was received with honors usually conferred on dignitaries of high position, and the best people of the township vied with each other in lavishing hospitality on the ragged, tattered, sun-browned, limping privates of the commonweal army.

The men formed in columns of fours with military precision, for Kelly's discipline has developed an organized body out of a mob. He maintains a marvelous discipline over his men, whom he always speaks of as "my boys," and their loyalty and devotion to him are apparent to the most casual observer. He uses good grammar in his speeches and is a pleasant faced, determined looking, undersized man, who rules by tact, good humor and "horse sense." His goodby address to the people of Underwood pledged the army to peaceful methods and good behavior, and when he mounted the thoroughbred Morgan, which William Boylan of Council Bluffs gave him, the 1,200 persons who crowded around him cheered until the last commonwealer had disappeared around the curve. At Neola the scene at Underwood was repeated, the same enthusiasm being manifested. The men were housed in livery stables, the city hall and vacant buildings, the city is theirs and they are knee deep in clover. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road will begin running trains through to Council Bluffs when the army leaves Avoca, but the Rock Island road is uncertain what to do, for Kelly's line of march parallels the road to Des Moines.

Quiet Again at Omaha.

OMAHA, Neb., April 23.—Everything in Omaha is comparatively quiet and most of the excitement over the industrial has died out. In many of the churches yesterday sermons were preached, in which the Kelly movement was discussed at length. In every case, of course, the sentiment of the preacher was that the industrial army was to be condemned and that the movement is one which should not be permitted. In no case was the Kelly cause upheld or even considered in a favorable light.

MUST BE VACCINATED.

New Trials Await Trampers in Indiana—Progress of Various Divisions.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 23.—Secretary Shaley of the Terre Haute board of health has been notified that he must vaccinate Gen. Frye and his entire army and continue the work as fast as other divisions of the commonweal reach that point. The same order extends to all towns along the state line where Coxe divisions are liable to enter the state.

ARCOLA, Ill., April 23.—A portion of Gen. Frye's detachment of the commonweal army passed through this city on a Central freight train last night bound north.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., April 23.—If Kelly's army reaches Rock Island it is not unlikely that a local contingent will join it. There is quite a following here.

RICHMOND, Ind., April 23.—J. H. Swift of Terre Haute, an advance man for the industrial, is here to raise recruits for Kelly's army. He expects to have 200 in two days.

WILMINGTON, Ohio, April 23.—Col. Galvin of Frye's industrial army with 200 commonwealers is stranded here, the railway company refusing to carry them farther.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 23.—The northern or Jones wing of Coxe's commonweal army, nineteen strong, in command of Division Marshal Clinton, marched into Orangeville, a small village a quarter of a mile from Baltimore, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and went into camp.

HARTFORD, Conn., 23.—The Connecticut contribution to Coxe's army is booked to start from Bristol Tuesday morning and expects to reach this city Wednesday or Thursday.

Suspense at Des Moines.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 23.—The situation here is much strained on account of the presence of Kelly's army to the west of the city. It is believed to be only a question of time until the army is thrown upon the people of this city, as Kelly persists in coming east. Business here is in semi-suspense and the trains to the west are running irregularly or not at all. Among laboring people there is great sympathy for the members of the army. Among business-men there is a growing feeling that Gov. Jackson should see the army transported across the state even if it takes the military to provide the trains. It is the soul topic of discussion and there is a feeling that the trouble is only in its beginning.

Army Still at Hagerstown.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 23.—Coxe's army is still resting on its arms. According to Carl Browne it will move this morning; according to general belief it will camp here until Coxe comes back. The army has now been on the road a month. During that time it has marched 380 miles and has endured almost every hardship that could be put upon it. Sixty miles of the distance lay over the Blue Ridge mountains, where the trail was covered with two feet of snow. Starting from Massillon, Ohio, with seventy men, Coxe at one time had 600 men under his command. He now has 215, and refuses to take any more unless they have the means to support themselves. The army is quiet and causing no trouble.

Warning From Mr. Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—President Cleveland is greatly disturbed over the coming of Coxe's commonweal army, and has sought advice on the subject from members of his cabinet, prominent congressmen and others in authority. The President has practically decided to issue a semi-official proclamation admonishing all persons who contemplate visiting the national capital that they must respect the laws and conduct themselves in a peaceful and respectful manner or suffer the consequences.

Gov. Gill Will Not Interfere.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 23.—Acting Gov. Gill declares that unless the army is found guilty of destroying property or of other breaches of the public peace the militia will not be called out by him, nor will he interfere in any way.

GIVE BATTLE TO OUTLAWS.

Sheriff's Posse Captures Four Desperadoes Who Broke Jail in Oklahoma.

HENNESSY, Ok., April 21.—A courier brings news of a desperate fight between a sheriff's posse and the four desperadoes who broke jail at Newkirk and have since killed two home-steaders, Wintermuth and Osgood, in the Cherokee strip.

The posse had followed the bandits' trail since Thursday, and had three relays of horses. They surrounded them last night in the sand hills, twenty miles west, in the Cheyenne country. The bandits made a desperate resistance. They fired over fifty shots, and slightly wounded two members of the posse, farmers from the Cheyenne country. Scott, one of the desperadoes, was mortally wounded, and the two Gramley brothers received wounds in the legs and shoulders. They finally surrendered.

Sunk at the Light.

MONTREY, Cal., April 23.—The Pacific Coast Steamship company's steamer Los Angeles, bound north from Newport, Cal., and way ports to San Francisco, ran on the rocks at Point St. Lighthouse, thirty miles south of Monterey, between 9 and 10 o'clock last night. The steamer sank within a few minutes, and the passengers and crew took to the boats. Several lives were lost in the accident, but how many is not known. The dead so far found are: Nolan, a fireman; Sheridan, S. N., of Ventura, Cal.; Unknown, passenger; Unknown, seaman.

Smallpox Spreads in Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 23.—The development of smallpox here is now regarded by the state health board as so threatening that nothing but the most earnest efforts can prevent an epidemic in Indiana. All cases thus far have been traced to Chicago. An earnest effort will be made to stamp the pest out.

NORTHERN TRAINS RUNNING ON TIME

EASTERN END OF THE ROAD
ALL RIGHT.

Further West Strikers Still Hold the Upper Hand and Say the Fight Is to a Finish—Either Capital Or Labor Will Receive Its Death Blow.

ST. PAUL, April 23.—Great Northern trains started on time today. Traffic so far as passenger and mail service is concerned is now open on the Great Northern from St. Paul to Neche, N. D. It is believed that the strike is practically over now, so far as Minnesota and North Dakota are concerned, and the company can begin work on the states further west, taking them in order, one at a time.

An opinion by Acting Attorney-General of the United States Maxwell that "mail trains" are trains as usually made up that carry the mail and that to interfere with such is a violation of the statutes and punishable by fine and imprisonment has been submitted to Debs, who has given orders that the strikers let such trains alone.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., April 23.—The train bearing the deputy marshals that left here at 8 o'clock for the west reached Fergus Falls at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning and left at 6:30 for Barnesville, arriving there at 8. The deputies met with no difficulties in getting out trains, though strikers complained much. Twenty-nine deputies remained at Barnesville to guard the companies' interests. A big train from the west went through here at 4 and another at 6. President Foster received a message from Hogan to send down a committee of three to-day with instructions that there would be no concessions. It is reported that the Hinckley and Osseo mixed trains carrying mails will be started out soon. Everything is quiet here.

WILLMAR, Minn., April 23.—"We want unconditional surrender and mean to have it," say the Great Northern strikers here. They have appointed patrolmen to watch the yards and see that no overt act is committed by either strikers or outsiders. The town is in the hands of the strikers, whose word is law. Every person in town who is not known is carefully watched and if necessary his baggage is searched to determine his identity. By the attitude they have assumed the strikers seem to invite the interference of regular troops. Mention of state militia amuses them. To send state militia there they say would be to inaugurate a bloody war.

"If the railroad wins the strike," said Archie Bogart, one of the leaders, "it means a death blow to labor. If we win it, then it means what we want—a death blow to corporations. We are determined that it shall be one way or the other."

The strikers both at Wellman and Litchfield are in full possession of the company's property and operate the locomotives at will. Sidetracked at Wellman by reason of the strike are seven freight trains. These cars for the most part contain merchandise, wheat, and lumber.

Yesterday afternoon a mass meeting of citizens and strikers was held and the result of good counsel is that all mail trains will hereafter be allowed to pass without interference.

No Love for Breckinridge.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 21.—Gen. W. H. Gentry, Capt. R. H. Fitz-Hugh and many other prominent members claim that Breckinridge will get less than a half of the ex-Confederate association's votes. The opposition to him is based not only on the ground of morality, but because Breckinridge opposed the association's candidate for the Lexington postoffice.

Wisconsin Freemasons to Meet.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 23.—The Masonic lodges of the state will convene in this city to-day. The bodies which are to meet constitute the Valley of Milwaukee and Supreme council, thirty-third degree.

Northern Pacific Men May Strike.

TACOMA, Wash., April 23.—The American Railway Union has perfected plans to demand of the Northern Pacific receivers for the immediate restoration of the old schedules and it will declare a strike on the whole system. The union claims 90 per cent of all the employees east of the Pacific division favor restoration and they declare 50 per cent of the Northern Pacific employees are members of the union and that the brotherhoods will join in the strike. President Debs strongly favors restoration, but thinks undue haste is dangerous and must be avoided.

Thinks the Coal Strike Can Be Settled.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Col. Read is waiting for a reply from President McBride of the United Mine Workers as to the conference between the mine owners and miners as proposed by him. "If the conference is held and the men meet in a spirit of conciliation," he said, "I believe the strike will be of short duration."

Railway Employees to Federate.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 23.—Three hundred employees of the Consolidated railroad company met here and voted in favor of forming a system of federation to be made up of the six labor organizations in which the employees are divided. The organizations represented were the engineers, conductors, trainmen, firemen, telegraphers and switchmen.

NOW BRICK MEN WAR AGAINST DEPUTIES.

OFFICERS SUPPRESS RIOTERS
AROUND SHERMANVILLE.

The First Murder Resulting From the Coal Strike Was that of a Walking Delegate Who Wanted Bluefield Hungarians to Quit Work—They Refused and a Row Ensued.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Labor troubles broke out today in a new field. Deputies had to be sent to Shermanville to suppress striking brickmakers.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 23.—The coal strike has resulted in a murder here. Labor agitators from Ohio and Pennsylvania have been at work to induce the 5,000 miners of the Flat Top region of West Virginia to strike. One of these agitators, Patrick O'Brien of Pennsylvania, met his death at Turkey Ridge at the hands of an enraged gang of Hungarian miners. O'Brien had finished an address to the mine workers, composed principally of negroes, Italians and Hungarians, in which he urged them to throw down their picks and demand better treatment and pay from the mine owners, when a Hungarian named Hanseni sprang upon a box and besought his fellow countrymen to remain at work and provide for their families. A wrangle followed and O'Brien entered the saloon of Thomas McBride, leaving the miners in disgust. Hanseni followed him and after some words the lie was passed when Hanseni, backed by an excited crowd of Hungarians, drew his long-bladed knife and plunged it into O'Brien's body repeatedly, killing him almost instantly. The murderer then fled to the mountains. More trouble is feared.

BLOODSHED IMMINENT.

Prospect of a Collision in Alabama Between Striking Miners and Soldiers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 23.—A collision between the striking miners and the constabulary and state troops is now imminent. At Patton, Walker county, the miners still at work insist that they will not join the strikers, while the men who struck insist that all shall join them, and they declare that not a pick shall go into the coal. The result is that the working miners at that point have been supplied with arms to protect themselves and Birmingham is being ransacked for more rifles and ammunition. A collision seems almost certain. Gov. Jones will get here and take charge of affairs. It is certain he will order out the state troops if needed and will not hesitate to fire upon the strikers in case they resort to violence. The situation at the Blue Creek mine, operated by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, is desperate. The workers at that point are frightened and threatened to quit. They made a demand for beer to keep their courage up. The local military, six companies strong, has received orders to be at the armories at 9 o'clock this morning prepared for active service. The officers of the Sloss Iron and Steel company and those of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and railroad company are thoroughly frightened. They are in consultation with the sheriff to see what can be done to protect working miners at Blue Creek and the convict prisoners at Pratt City and Coalburg. The strikers threaten to deliver the convicts and burn the commissaries, which, if attempted, will result in bloodshed.

EIGHTY THOUSAND MINERS OUT.

These Are McBride's Figures—Coal Roads Will Be Seriously Affected.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 23.—President John McBride of the United Mine Workers' Union has received dispatches from Williamsport, Wellsboro, Huntingdon, Clearfield, Bellefonte, Gallatin, Pa.; Streator, Spring Valley, LaSalle, and Danville, Ill.; Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, and Des Moines, Iowa; Evansville, Booneville, Oakland City, and Terre Haute, Ind., with scattering telegrams from other states, all telling of the success of the strike in the various localities. The strikers to-day, according to his revised figures, now number 80,000 men actually out.

"The strike is likely seriously to affect the coal roads which depend upon that traffic largely for their freight earnings," said a prominent official of the Hocking Valley road. "The miners suspending work in the Hocking Valley will materially affect the business of our road. It looks as if four-fifths of the freight crews would have to be laid off. The principal freight business of the Hocking Valley road is the coal traffic. Remove that and there is little for us to do. Not only the Hocking Valley will be affected, but other coal roads as well."

Besides the Hocking Valley other roads in Ohio affected by the strike are the Toledo & Ohio Central, Ohio Southern, Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking, Wheeling & Lake Erie, Cleveland & Marietta, Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling, Cleveland & Canton, Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern, and nearly all the lines in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana and other states where the strike prevails. The Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania systems will be largely affected, and the latter especially in Pennsylvania.

If the strike continues longer than a month a great many manufacturers may have to close down for the want of coal. The operators can supply their demand for at least a month to come, but at the expiration of that time the stock on hand will become exhausted unless the miners resume work before that time.

DANVILLE MINERS JOIN.

One Thousand More Illinois Coal Diggers Vote to Go Out To-day.

DANVILLE, Ill., April 23.—The mass-meeting of miners in this district was held south of the city yesterday and was attended by 1,000 miners. A vote was taken and it was decided that all the men in this district should come out to-day. The majority of the men favored striking because the miners of Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Indiana have done so.

DECATUR, Ill., April 23.—The fifty miners at Niantic, Macon county, have joined in the strike. The Decatur miners will not join in the strike now, as they do not belong to the union, but probably will do so if it becomes necessary to show their sympathy with the miners at Pana and Lincoln.

MAY BE TROUBLE AT PITTSBURG.

Strikers Will Endeavor to Force All Miners to Quit Work.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 23.—An attempt will be made to-day to get out all the men employed by the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company at Sandy and Plum Creeks. The company employs 1,500 men, 500 of whom struck. The others do not want to strike and threaten trouble. Meetings for the purpose of getting men to strike will be held at Irwin and West Newton. The officials are waiting until the actual figures of the number of men out are obtainable. They think now that between 10,000 and 15,000 of the 18,000 miners in the district are idle.

FOR A LONG TARIFF DEBATE

The Wilson Tariff Bill Will Not Be Hurdled Through the Senate

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The prospect is that the tariff debate in the senate will continue this week much on the same lines as have been observed since the agreement for the regulation of hours of debate was entered into, notwithstanding the arrangement that the reading of the bill by paragraphs shall be begun Wednesday at 1 o'clock. The republican senators are counting upon the continuance of this program for at least another week, and expect to go on with their general speeches just as they have been doing for the last three weeks. The speeches announced for the week are those of Washburn today, Mills and Palmer Tuesday; Higgins and Aldrich Wednesday and Cullum Thursday or Friday. If no one else should be prepared to proceed at any time, Senator Quay will continue the speech of which he has already delivered several installments. Senator Dolph may also at any time conclude his unfinished speech.

Senator Mills is expected to reply in a general way for the members of the finance committee to the attacks which have been made upon the bill, and his speech will be about three hours in length.

Nine republican senators will make manifest their disposition to contest every inch of ground at the very beginning of the discussion of the paragraphs as such Wednesday by attempting to have the provision of the first paragraph, providing that the new tariff shall go into effect the 30th of June, changed. They will contend that the custom has always been to give at least six months' notice in making a change of the tariff laws.

Senator Harris, upon being asked, said that no agreement had been reached for the continuance of the present agreement as to hours of debate, and he was not prepared to say what would be done in that respect when the schedules should be reached. "I think we shall begin by meeting earlier, and if that change does not suffice to exact sufficient progress we shall gradually extend the hours into the night, and then will begin a contest which must either exhaust the senators or result in final action upon the bill."

BILLS IN THE HOUSE.

Measures That Will Take Up Attention During the Present Week.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Appropriation bills will continue to occupy the attention of the house during the coming week after to-day. Tuesday the diplomatic and consular bill will probably be finished, and Wednesday the postoffice bill. The only item in this bill undisposed of is that providing a subsidy for the fast southern mail. As a strong fight is being made to cut off this appropriation it may require two days to get it out of the way. After the postoffice bill is completed the army bill will be taken up. The only possibility of varying the monotony of this program is the precipitation of a debate on some resolution in connection with the coming of Coxe's army of the commonweal. The populists in the house, as in the senate, have come to the front as advocates for fair play for the industrial, and they may spring some resolution bearing on the subject which would throw it open for discussion.

More Trouble Feared at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., April 23.—On account of the attitude of many foreign laborers in the city a renewal of hostilities at Grosse Pointe is feared. An immense meeting of workmen was held in Arbeiter hall yesterday afternoon addressed by labor leaders in English, German and Polish.

ANARCHIST BOMBS FOR LEIGE'S MAYOR.

TWO EXPLODED OUTSIDE HIS HOME TODAY.

Royal Theatre Slightly Damaged and a Panic Resulted—Police Active in Arresting Suspects—Three Men Are in Custody Pending Further Developments.

PARIS, April 23.—Two bombs were exploded today outside the mayor's house in Leige. The Royal theatre was slightly damaged. The explosion was a tremendous one and created a panic in the neighborhood. The police concentrated there and took stringent measures to discover the guilty parties. Several arrests were made and three of the suspects hurried off to a cell. No lives lost.

INDIANA GERRYMANDER STANDS

Democratic Apportionment Sustained By the Circuit Court.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 23.—The circuit court today desired that the state apportionment as prepared by democrats must stand. The points involved were very similar to those in the Wisconsin controversy where the gerrymander was overturned.

NICHTHEROY'S CREW IN NEW YORK

Americans Who Helped in the Brazilian War Return Home.

NEW YORK, April 23.—The steamer Havellins arrived to-day from Rio with the officers and men of the steamer Nichtheroy. The crew was raised in New York, as will be remembered, and helped in subduing the Brazilian rebellion.

WHEAT PROSPECTS ARE GOOD.

Reports from 3,248 Points in Six States Are Encouraging.

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 23.—The present prospect is that the next wheat crop in six states will be somewhat larger than an average one. Indiana has the best and a very good prospect, especially in some of the larger wheat counties. Ohio promises nearly as well, while Missouri and Illinois follow, each saying above an average. Michigan and Kansas have fully an average prospect.

For Mrs. Maybrick's Release.

LONDON, April 21.—Another has just been added to the series of attempts to obtain the release of Mrs. Maybrick, who is undergoing a life term in Woking for the murder of her husband. A petition has been protested to Mr. Asquith, home secretary, praying for her discharge from prison, and a number of affidavits are also submitted. These affidavits, which accompany the petition, are to the effect that for many years Mr. Maybrick was a confirmed opium eater, and was also addicted to the use of arsenic.

Labor Electoral Manifesto.

LONDON, April 23.—The Labor Electoral association of Great Britain and Ireland issued to-day a manifesto concerning the policy of workingmen voters at the forthcoming general election. It declares in favor of payment of salaries to members of parliament, and for making a test question of the abolition of the house of lords. An eight-hour bill for miners is also favored by the manifesto.

Simply a Wild Scare.

LONDON, April 23.—A thorough investigation on the part of the authorities of Scotland Yard, aided by the most expert detective service of the continent, has resulted in a formal statement to the effect that no proof is forthcoming to support the allegation that a plot had been arranged to wreck the train in which Queen Victoria journeyed to Florence.

All on Board Lost.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—News has been received here of the loss of the fishing schooner Dauntless and the drowning of four men at the mouth of Klamath river, on the California coast, early last Thursday morning. The disaster resulted through an attempt to put to sea from the Klamath river during a gale. The schooner foundered in the breakers on the bar.

To Construct a Big Waterway.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 23.—A scheme is on foot in which a number of American capitalists are stockholders to construct a waterway from Welland river, west of Chippewa, to Lake Ontario.

To Do Battle with Tammany.

NEW YORK, April 23.—At a largely attended meeting in Chickering hall Dr. Parkhurst definitely announced the intention of his organization to enter politics and attempt the overthrow of Tammany next November.

Will Drive Out the Negroes.

WISTER, I. T., April 23.—Two wagon-loads of determined men have left for Hartshorne to try to induce the negroes recently imported from Texas and who are now at work to come out. Serious trouble is expected.

Joins German Freemasons.

COBURG, April 23.—The prince of Wales has joined the St. John's lodge of Freemasons of Gotha. In doing so the prince expressed the hope that there would be close personal relations between the German and English Freemasons.

If Commander-in-Chief Adams is not present he will be represented by Senior Vice-Commander I. N. Walker, of Indianapolis. Comrade Walker is a man of fine appearance and an excellent talker and will be the feature of the encampment.

A notable feature of the encampment will be the address by I. F. Mack of Sandusky, O. He was formerly a resident of Brodhead.

Watrous Likely to Win.

Added interest is felt in the '94 encampment by Wisconsin veterans. b cause of the fact that it is the first time recently that the encampment is held in the southern part of the state, where the soldier population is the heaviest. Naturally the election of a successor to Commander Shores will be the most important part of the encampment work, and the thing to lend the most interest to the proceedings.

Friends of Colonel J. A. Watrous are confident he will be the next commander. He has been a tireless worker in the G. A. R. cause, and will receive a big vote. Others who have been mentioned are Richard Carter, of Dodgeville; A. J. Smith, of Amherst; and Levi J. Billings, of Rhinelander. Billings is now the leader of the anti-Watrous forces, but is not believed to be making a very earnest canvass. Watrous has the advantage of being backed by the solid Milwaukee delegation, which casts a big vote.

Plans of the Woman's Relief Corps.

The programme which the Woman's Relief corps ladies have arranged for the entertainment of the guests during convention is as follows:

BURT TO BE TRIED ON MONDAY Had He Lived in Wisconsin His Crime Would Have Been Outlawed.

Edwin Burt's trial on a charge of horse stealing will be held next Monday. If Burt had lived in the state of Wisconsin during the thirteen years he was wanted by the police the crime would doubtless have been outlawed by this time, but his going to another state, even though he has visited in Wisconsin many times since will tell against him. The Rockford Register-Gazette says: "Burt has always borne an excellent reputation in Rockford and the outcome of the case will be awaited with interest by many friends here. If he is found guilty he should be given the lightest sentence possible as his straight life here will go far to atone for any misdeed he might have committed in the past."

MEDAL CONTEST AT EVANSVILLE.

Miss Lizzie McPhillips of Monroe Wins the Cooper Prize.

EVANSVILLE, Wis., April 23.—A Cooper gold medal contest was held Friday evening at the Opera hall under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The hall was packed. Dr. W. H. Judd and his sister, Mrs. C. D. Stevens, have fallen heir to a share of property by the death of their great-uncle, Matthew S. Barnum of Sharon, Conn. This morning they received checks for the same, the estate having been settled and the distribution made. This fact explained the extra pleasant smile with which the doctor greeted his friends today.

Frozen—Then on Fire.

Like the application of ice to the small of your back is the sensation produced by the chill that precedes the fever of malaria. Then comes the roasting stage, when every vein throbs and is scorched as if with liquid fire. Then you well nigh dissolve in exhausting perspiration that leaves you as limp as a wet dish rag. These alternating torments are not remediable permanently with quinine, which is, moreover, a most damaging cumulative poison. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters drives out the foe and repels its further attacks. It is the leading medicinal safeguard against malaria all over the continents of North and South America, Guatemala, the Isthmus of Panama, Mexico and Australia. It regulates the liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys, enriches the blood, and promotes appetite, sleep and digestion. It is not only a medicine, but an effective cordial welcome to the most delicate palate. Rheumatic tendency is counteracted by it.

JANESVILLE IS NOW A PRUNE CENTER.

BIGGEST SYNDICATE OF THE COUNTRY HERE.

Chicago Millionaires Interested In the Fruitdale Improvement Co.—John M. Whitehead Is Janesville Representative as Well as Attorney for the New Colonization Concern.

Janesville is made the headquarters of the biggest prune syndicate in the country, by deals closed within the last two weeks.

The Fruitdale Improvement Co. (Limited) of Idaho is incorporated as a Janesville concern. An immense amount of Chicago capital is behind the company, however, and the Wisconsin incorporation is simply to enable the concern to hold land in another state. Illinois laws do not give an incorporation this privilege. Janesville was chosen because two of the stockholders were very well acquainted here. The officers of the Fruitdale Company hold the bulk of the stock and are:

President, Judge R. S. Tuthill, Chicago; vice president, John M. Whitehead, Janesville; treasurer, John Farson, Chicago; secretary, John B. Hill, Jr., Chicago.

The last two are presidents of wealthy Chicago corporations.

Ten thousand acres of Idaho farming lands, six miles south of Boise City, are owned by the company and as much more is controlled by options. For two years big gangs have been at work completing an extensive system of irrigating canals and reservoirs. Prof. G. E. Bailey of Chicago being in charge. Prof. Bailey has been in Janesville off and on for several weeks consulting with Mr. Whitehead, but spent Sunday in Chicago. He is famous for his connections with government investigations of irrigating systems in the old world and in Central America no less than for his ability as a war correspondent. A few years ago he reported four distinct and separate wars for Chicago papers inside of twelve months. Civil engineering is his profession, however, and his office in Chicago is a source of information for all interested in irrigation problems. He is consulting engineer, while Mr. Whitehead, of this city, is legal representative of the company and looks after the "home" office.

Few States Can Raise Prunes.

Attention was drawn to Idaho by the fact that it is one of the few places in the union where prunes can be grown. The only territory where they flourish is in the four states on the Pacific slope—California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho. It was seen that irrigation would be necessary and after the title to ten thousand acres in the southern end of the state had been secured a little at a time so as not to excite suspicion among original holders the building of a half mile dam across a canyon in the Saw Tooth mountains was begun. This immense piece of masonry confines the spring floods from the mountains and the water is then let down gradually by means of a canal. Another canyon dammed in the same way gives a reserve supply of water.

The land of the company is cut up into two, three, five, seven and ten acre plots. Small farms most people would say, but the land is to cost three hundred dollars an acre, and the income from an acre planted to prunes is expected to be from $200 to $400 a year. The land is paid for in installments, and the man who stays back in the east end pays his installments, gets his land at the end of five years with prune trees in full bearing, fences up and irrigating ditches dug.

PASSED TO THE OTHER SHORE.

Mrs. Margaret Murphy

Surrounded by loving friends Mrs. Margaret Murphy, mother of ex-City Treasurer Murphy, passed away early Sunday morning. Her illness had been brief but severe and the end, which came a few minutes after midnight could not be termed unexpected. Seventy-four active years had saddened her strength and she was ill-fitted to bear sickness. Mrs. Murphy was born in Ireland and came to Janesville nearly forty years ago. Twenty-two years ago her husband died. Nine children have also passed on before her, on y one, Michael Murphy surviving. Bereavement seemed to cement the ties between mother and son the more firmly and the sympathy and affection displayed was inspiration to many others. Mrs. George Cullen of this city and Mrs. William Hart of Gettysburg, Dakota, are sisters of the dead woman.

Funeral services will be held from St. Patrick's church Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The interment will be in Mount Olivet, where the husband and children lie.

HORRORS OF THE COMMUNE.

The Dark Days of France When Blood Flowed Like Water.

A young linesman staggered into the courtyard, bareheaded, ghastly pale, his tunic half stripped off. His neck was cut deeply open at the bottom of the right side for a length of nearly six inches, and the severed flesh hung down on to the shoulder in a thick scarlet fold; he dripped with blood, and literally spattered it about as he reeled in. He still held his rifle in his left hand, and with the right he dragged after him a young woman with nothing on her but a torn chemise and uniform trousers (which indicated that she had been a cantiniere of the Commune).

With a last effort the soldier flung the woman toward us, stammering out hoarsely. "She has killed my captain; she has killed two of my comrades; she has cut my throat, yet I bring her to you alive!" And then the poor fellow dropped heavily, his rifle ringing on the stones as it fell with him.

"The woman's hands behind her," ordered the commanding officer as the soldier was put upon a litter for conveyance to the ambulance. Silent and breathless stood the woman; she seemed to expect immediate death. Her shoulders, her tattered chemise, her arms and hands were splashed everywhere with blood; the expression of her white face, with the hard, glazed eyes, the clenched teeth and the strained distortion of the corners of the mouth, was demoniacal.

Straight she stood up before us, her head thrown back as if to dare the worst, says a writer in Blackwoods Magazine; she made no answer to the questions put to her. There was discussion among the officers as to whether it was not their duty to have her shot at once. But, though the case was clear, they shrank from commencing executions by a woman, and, after some hesitation, spared her, taking it for granted that when tried she would be condemned. Her arms bound back, she was sent into the cellar. She was, however, the only one let off; from that moment every prisoner, man or woman, brought in red-handed was taken across to the park and executed straight away.

Turn About Is Fair Play.

"How are the farmers making out this year?" asked a New Yorker, a former resident of Vermont, of a friend from the old home.

"Poorly," replied the Green Mountain man. "You recollect old Bill Thompson? Well, his case illustrates the condition of affairs. It came around the end of the year, and he hadn't made enough to pay his man, so he had to sell a yoke of oxen to get money.

"When he turned the proceeds over to the fellow he said: 'Tom, times are hard, farming's played out and I've got to let you go.'

"But," said Tom, "you've got more cattle. I'll serve you and look for my wages in cattle."

"And when they're all gone what will you do?"

"What will I do?" queried Tom. "Why, then you'll work for me, don't you see, and get all your cattle back again."

The Tucheler Halde.

The largest continuous distinct forest district in West Prussia is known as the Tucheler Halde and extends over an area of thirty-five square miles. It is subject to great and sudden changes of temperature. Snow has fallen as late as May 19 and night frosts have occurred as late as the 1st and 3rd of June. Prehistoric remains are found belonging to the later stone and to the bronze ages. The inhabitants are occupied almost entirely with forestry and agriculture. Polish is still the prevalent language, though German is now generally understood.

Curious Land in the Adirondacks.

Much of the land classed as "meadow" in the Adirondack region is a curious swampy soil, covered with vegetation that rises so as to hide the underlying cold, dark water. One may walk for miles upon such a meadow, the feet sinking into it as into a water-soaked sponge, and deer frequently feed upon the grasses of the meadows and seemingly enjoy in midsummer the perpetual cool foot-bath of their pasture.

TO WASTE NO MONEY ON GRAVEL STREETS

ALDERMEN DECIDE TO CHANGE THEIR SYSTEM.

Any Streets that Are Rebuilt This Year Should Be Treated With Broken Stone—Purchase of a Steam Roller Weighing Twelve Tons Is Recommended.

There is considerable talk between aldermen as to new methods in road building and the curtailing of ward expenses. The suggestion Mayor Thoroughgood expressed in his message will be carried out. A group of aldermen of both political parties had their heads together yesterday, the subject of their conversation being street work.

"I have a balance in my ward fund which will carry us through the coming year, if we adopt some new way of doing our work whereby the tax payers will get value received," said one. "I am in favor of buying a heavy street roller, and instead of putting gravel on the street at the expense of the ward, procure a first quality of crushed stone from Baraboo. With this material we can make good roads. I favor a proposition that the city buy the stone, paying for it from the general fund. People are continually calling on the aldermen for street improvements. Now then, when the property owners on a street desire it improved, let them petition the council, and the work can then be done according to the charter, changeable to the property frontage.

Bonds to Pay For Improvements.

"Arrangements can be made so that the special tax for this purpose can be paid for in bonds, payable in a series of years so that it will not be burdensome. Streets so improved will not require much expense in keeping them in order, which can be done legitimately from the ward fund. I propose trying this in my ward. I know it is money thrown away to put on sand and gravel, and I do not propose to do it any more if I can help it."

The sentiment was generally approved, and then the conversation turned on a street roller, resulting in a general agreement that a twelve ton steam roller was the right thing to buy.

The streets in Madison are being improved by the use of crushed stone from Baraboo. A firm in that city is making a specialty of preparing this stone for street improvement. It is said that Madison authorities have narrowed up their residence streets to forty and fifty feet, and property owners were never better pleased, the city being crowded with petition for street improvements, their plans being similar to one mentioned above.

GETTYSBURG.

The Night Before the Battle.
The sun has set behind yon western hill,
The gathering clouds are fringed with scarlet hues.
The evening air seems laden with a chill
Of something more than early evening dew.
Far in the distance, on the turnpike gray,
A moving army winds around the hill,
And up the valley comes the dread array
Of marching columns, solemn, slow and still.
Out on the hills the white tents to the right
Like specters look, in evening twilight gray,
As halting columns bivouac for the night
In sullen silence, waiting for the fray.

Beyond the tents the fields of waving grain
Are ready for the reaper's busy hand;
But, oh, the bloody harvest of the slain
That waits the spectator reaper's stern command.

Far o'er the mountain, echoing through the valley,
A boom of cannon vibrates through the air
That signals hope, and right shall yet prevail,
Though great the carnage in this valley fair.

The twilight deepens: darkness, like a pall,
Envelops village, hill and warrior gray.
The day has closed, and silence over all:
The calm before the storm of coming day.

GEN. EARLY'S ROMANCE.

The Interesting Reason Why He Never Married.

Early never married. A pretty romance is told about him. When he was a young lieutenant in 1837 he appeared at the Greenbriar White Sulphur Springs in brilliant uniform and riding a splendid black stallion. One day, shortly after he had gone out for a ride, a beautiful young lady from Philadelphia, a debutante, spending her first season at "The White," drove off in her carriage. She had never met the young lieutenant.

Near the spring is a small creek, usually only a few feet deep. But on that afternoon it was a swollen stream of mad, muddy waters, sent down from the mountain side after a long rain of the day before. Towards the stream the carriage rolled, and just before reaching it passed the lieutenant. At the banks of the creek the driver paused a second, and then, thinking that he could make it, urged his horses in. Before the team had reached the middle of the stream, however, they were washed off their feet, and, with the floating carriage, went wildly along with the mad waves. Early was near enough the stream to see the driver's mistake, and realizing the lady's danger, buried his rowels in his horse's side and dashed into the water.

The carriage was tossing and rolling upon the waves, and the lady was screaming. The situation was desperate, and Early, realizing it, bent his energies to save her. The young soldier reached the carriage just as it toppled over. The water rolled over the beautiful girl, and Early thought she was lost, but a second later she came up almost beside him. Reaching down he caught her by the skirt, and a half minute later was holding her motionless body in his arms. Then, guiding his horse as best he could, the lieutenant made for the shore. Once on dry land, he gave his stallion the spurs, and in a few minutes galloped up to the hotel with the almost lifeless body of the belle in his arms.

She was carried to her friends, and then the story of her rescue was learned. The lieutenant was the hero of the hour, and that evening monopolized the Quaker belle's dancing list.

From that evening until the close of the season he was her almost constant companion. She received his attentions with apparent delight, and when the cool, frosty air warned the visitors of approaching winter they went away promising to meet each other there the next summer. The lady went back to her home, her heart full of the conquest she had made, while Early reported to his troop for duty. At Fort Monroe he remained until the Florida war, when he went to the Everglades. There he distinguished himself, and, as fortune smiled upon him, his love for the girl far away in her northern home increased. For her he was full of hope and ambition.

But both were doomed to an early and sad disappointment. With the approach of spring Lieut. Early's thoughts began to dwell upon the pleasant meeting so near at hand. Early in the spring he applied for a leave of absence, and it came, but the same mail brought him a paper. The handwriting upon the wrapper was familiar to him, and as he tore it away a heavy black mark upon the paper caught his eye. Glancing at it, he read the piece which it marked. That piece told him of the marriage of the lady he loved so well, and as he read it he realized for the first time that she had been toying with his heart. After reading it he cut the piece from the paper, placed it in a book and kept it.

That is why, it is said, Jubal Early never married.—Baltimore American.

When Gen. Sherman was traveling through New Mexico after the civil war he remarked to a company of friends: "I always thought the Mexican war was an unholy war, but now I would like to fight Mexico again."

When asked why, he replied: "To make her take back New Mexico."

SURROUNDED BY MYSTERY!

A Great Mistake.

A recent discovery is that headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion of the mind, etc., are due to derangement of the nerve centers which supply the brain with nerve force; that indigestion, dyspepsia, neuralgia, wind in stomach, etc., arise from the derangement of the nerve centers supplying these organs with nerve fluid or force. This is likewise true of many diseases of the heart and lungs. The nerve system is like a telegraph system, as will be seen by the accompanying cut. The little white lines are the nerves which convey the nerve force from the nerve centers to every part of the body, just as the electric currents are conveyed along the telegraph wires to every station, large or small. Ordinary physicians fail to regard this fact; instead of treating the nerve centers for the cause of the disorders arising therefrom they treat the part affected.

Franklin Miles, M. D., L. B., the highly celebrated specialist and student of nervous diseases, and author of many noted treatises on the latter subject, long since realized the truth of the first statement, and his Restorative Nerve is prepared on that principle. Its success in curing all diseases arising from derangement of the nervous system is wonderful, as the thousands of unsolicited testimonials in possession of the company manufacturing the remedy amply prove.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve is a reliable remedy for all nervous diseases, such as headache, nervous debility, prostration, sleeplessness, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. Restorative Nerve positively contains no opiates or dangerous drugs.

A STRIKING CONTRAST.

England as well as the United States has a treasury deficit to face, but how differently she handles it. It is not nearly so large as ours, to be sure, being only $22,510,000, whereas we are likely to have an aggregate of $80,000,000 at the end of the current fiscal year; but it is large enough to require heroic treatment, and the proposed form of remedial legislation presents an interesting and suggestive contrast to the plan that is in course of adoption in this country. There is to be no borrowing of money over there to begin with. Nobody advocates the policy of increasing the public debt by bond-selling or otherwise to make good the loss of revenue. The method decided upon for meeting the deficiency is the simple and practical one of additional taxation. But it is not proposed to reconstruct the whole system of taxation, and thus to disturb all forms of trade and industry. On the contrary there is merely to be an increase of about a quarter of one per cent. in the income tax, 12c per gallon in the tax on spirits, and 12c per barrel in the tax on beer. The additions, it is estimated, will yield all that is needed to make the receipts equal to the expenditures; and they are of such a nature, it will readily be observed, as not to interfere materially with existing commercial and industrial conditions.

WHERE WILL DEMOCRACY LAND?

Senator Smith, of New Jersey, uttered a truth that will not be forgotten when he declared that the Wilson bill does not "grant to our industries sufficient protection to guarantee their maintenance on the basis of American wages." His demand to the senate was that the measure be altered so as to afford this security. Without this defense of "sufficient protection" he sees that "American wages" cannot be maintained, and he tells his party he is against any measure which does not provide it. This doctrine, though enunciated by a democrat, has the republican ring. It goes much further than mere opposition to the income tax provision; it strikes at the whole spirit and purpose of the bill. His invocation shows his conviction that unless this change is made nothing but the direct interposition of the Almighty can save the democratic party from disaster.

DOUBT IS WHAT KILLS.

If the tariff bill were either passed or defeated the revival in business would come. If it were passed trade would adjust itself to the new conditions, and if it were defeated the tariff could not be changed until the republicans would change it, for there would be no chance for the democrats to pass a bill in the short session, and in the next congress the republicans will be in the majority in the house, and two years later they will have both branches of congress and the presidency. It is the uncertainty which prevents trade improvement.

Such a change in the Wilson bill as Senator Smith desires is manifestly impossible. It would be so radical and sweeping that it would involve the complete transformation of the bill, and there is no time now for any such work. Democracy must go to judgment on the bill as it now reads, and nobody doubts what fate is in store.

Calls Out the Guards.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Brigadier-General Ordway, commanding the District National guard, has issued general order No. 5 directing the annual muster and inspection of the guard. Perhaps it is only a coincidence, but all six battalions are called out for duty consecutively on dates commencing with the arrival of the Coxy mob, May 1, and extending to Wednesday, May 16, when the light artillery and ambulance company will close out the inspection muster.

He was brevetted major general for gallantry at the battle of Ezra Church and in the campaigns against Atlanta and was commissioned major general, which command he now holds, in 1886. Monroe Doctrine Rule in Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—There can no longer be any doubt that Rear-Admiral Walker's assignment to the command of the Pacific Squadron is of a temporary nature, and is directly connected with the establishment of a coaling station at Pearl Harbor, and for a vigorous enforcement of the Monroe doctrine in case there should be any danger of foreign interference during the coming elections.

Mello was Out of Means.

BUENOS AYRES, April 23.—Admiral de Mello has issued a manifesto declaring that the insurgent territorial army did not support the insurgents' squadron. He adds that he relinquished the contest in consequence of absolute lack of means to continue it. In conclusion De Mello expresses the hope that in spite of the fallacious promises of assistance from so-called friends the efforts which he has made may not be without good effect upon the future of Brazil.

Mrs. August Benwitz Asks the Police to Maintain Order

Mrs. August Benwitz told a pitiful story of her family troubles to the chief of police this afternoon. She is an English woman and her husband is German. She claimed that she could get along with her husband all right, but her step-son was a terror in the family. The husband invariably sided with his son, and a riot followed each family reunion. She begged the police to visit her home and demand that peace be maintained by the head of the house.

MURDERS A RECLUSE FOR A PITIFUL SUM.

WEIBERT TRITSCHLER SLAIN
FOR FORTY DOLLARS.

Political Fugitive From Germany
Beaten to Death in the Road While
On His Way to Indian Ford On Foot
—Was a Highly Educated Civil Engineer.

Cruelly slain and by people who knew him, was Wiebert Tritschler, a political exile from Germany. Tritschler was found dead in the road between Fulton at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. An unknown thug, but one who evidently knew his victim and was known by him, struck Tritschler on the head with a club that was broken by the blow, but not until Tritschler had fallen senseless and a knot in the end of the stick had literally gouged his left eye from his head. Then the murderer robbed his pockets and took everything except newspapers, pipes and tobacco and a pocket comb. By this time Tritschler had revived and struggled to his knees. Then the murderers saw that he had recovered and would recognize him, so he walked across the road and cut a club from a pile of limbs left by tree trimmers and battered Tritschler's brains out. The entire scalp was torn off by the blow on the back part of the head hanging in fragments and shreds. The right side of the head was crushed in and fourteen loose fragments of bone were found. There were seven distinct lacerated and contused wounds on the head that penetrated to the skull. The pockets had been rifled and the ten cent piece that was found was lying loose in the clothing and had accidentally been dropped in removing the money from his pockets. A box of pills had been found in the pocket and after being opened and examined had been thrown over the fence into the field. The body lay on its back in the blood that had flowed from the battered head.

Tried to Defend Himself.
Tritschler evidently made several efforts to save his life. The first blow was delivered with a poplar club which broke into a dozen pieces, but the blow gouged his eye out. It evidently knocked Tritschler to his knees as his trousers were muddy and bloody on the knees. The rest of the blows were probably struck while he was in that position. The fingers of one hand were crushed where the club had struck him on the hand or he threw it up to protect his head. The other arm was bruised and bloody where he had held it up to ward off the blows. Blood was scattered about in all directions for seven or eight feet by the force of the blows. That it was a deliberate cold blooded murder cannot be doubted. After the first club had broken the murderer had stepped into the woods where the farmers had been clearing and cut a club two inches in diameter from a piece of soft maple, the top of which lay in the position where it was dropped. With this instrument the job was finished. The clubs were both found near the body and were clotted with blood and tufted with the hair of the dead man.

The work was not done without leaving a clew for near the spot where the club was cut was found a footprint clearly defined in the soft earth. It was made by a large shoe with heavy nails in the sole and a plaster cast was made of it by the sheriff. Tritschler was said to have $40 when he left Edgerton and but ten cents was found in his pockets after the murder.

Found Stiff in Death.

Tritschler was found at 8 o'clock Sunday morning by J. L. Layton. He was lying in the road near the home of Orrin Pomeroy and in front of a tenant house on the farm which is occupied by Peter Mathinson, two and one-half miles southwest of Edgerton and one mile northwest of Fulton. The body was taken to the warehouse of Orrin Pomeroy and Drs. Henry Palmer and James A. Lord of Edgerton conducted the post mortem examination. They found the head and face disfigured by clots of blood, hands covered with blood and the clothing over the arm and body spotted with blood. The injuries consisted of a fractured nose, a contused and lacerated wound over the left eye, about two and a half to two and three-fourth inches in extent. This wound was evidently made by a blunt instrument a portion of which had entered the left eye gouging it out. There are four wounds on the top of the head varying in extent from one to two inches and penetrating all the tissues to the skull; also a contused wound over the right eye from one to one and one-half inches in extent, penetrating to the skull. The scalp was cut and torn in four different directions. The entire extent of the wounds was about ten inches, taking the different measurements, there was also a contused wound of the scalp above the right ear about two or three inches in extent. The skull was opened. The bones in the right side of the head were crushed into fragments.

Was an Educated Recluse.

Tritschler was no ordinary farm hand. When he first came to this country he worked for D. F. Sayre to whom he told a romantic story. He was, he claimed, a civil engineer and was born in Switzerland, where he was married at the age of fourteen to a girl of the same age, and in due time was presented with a pair of twins, whom his folks took charge of and educated. They were, he said of distinguished parentage. His children were both boys and grew to manhood and both killed in war, the first being killed in the English army in the Sudan, and the second killed in the English army in Afghanistan. Mr. Tritschler said he had been driven from Germany, and his property there confiscated by the government for his views on certain political questions. He came to this country about 1866, and engaged in civil engineering for the Union Pacific Railroad Company. He also claimed that his foreign political enemies drove him from that position in a short time. He then went back to Europe and enlisted in the French and German war.

Returned to America.
After the close of the war he claimed to have been one of the leaders of the commune in Paris, but again escaped to this country. This time he did not stop very long, going back to Europe, enlisting in the Russian army and serving in the Russian and Turkish war until it was over. After returning to America he seems to have tried to seclude himself, working as a common farm hand ever since. Some time ago he drew a plat of the Sayre farm that was as complete and as accurate as any civil engineer could draw and his story was strengthened by his fine penmanship and small almost feminine hands. He was very reticent and never spoke unless spoken to but conversed fluently in half a dozen languages. In music he was proficient. From his practice of favoring rubber boots the year round he was dubbed "Boots" by the men who knew him. Tritschler was last seen alive in Edgerton Saturday night when he started for his boarding house, he living at the home of Mrs. George Murwin. He was somewhat intoxicated, apparently, at that time. It is said that he was seen lying in the road at the spot where he was found as early as 7:30 Saturday night by a man who did not recognize him at the time and thought that he was simply some drunken man lying down to sleep.

A coroner's jury was at once summoned and the inquest was adjourned until Tuesday morning.

STORY OF A BLOODY WRIST.

Deputy Sheriff Maltress Explodes a Rumor Started in Fulton Yesterday.

A report was current this morning that a Fulton man who left Edgerton Saturday night, had been seen with blood on his wrist Sunday morning. Deputy Sheriff Maltress investigated the report early Sunday morning and found the man was a farm hand named Colts. There was no blood and no evidence that there had been any, and Colts was not arrested.

"Tritschler was something of an anarchist in his political beliefs," said Attorney Feeny, of Edgerton, today. "He always seemed a little unsettled in mind, moreover, and would stop in the fields while plowing to talk to trees and fences. He never would ride with anybody or exchange words with strangers, but people who passed him Saturday night on the way home from Edgerton said he was talking at a great rate."

"Mr. Tritschler had boarded with me eight years off and on," said Mrs. George Murwin to a Gazette reporter. "He was very quiet and secretive. He got money by mail every two or three months I think, and may have received some last week."

DOG SCRATCHED A BOY'S FACE

Playful St. Bernard Causes a Scare In the Fourth Ward

The big Saint Bernard dog of Conductor L. M. Thomas, 58 Lincoln street, tried to play with the son of Frank Puncheon this morning. The little boy was out at play when the dog jumped against him, his paws scratching the youngsters face. The screams of the little fellow attracted the attention of J. H. McVicar, the plumber, who was passing. Blood was pouring from the wounds when Mr. McVicar picked the boy up in his arms to carry him to his home near by. Dr. Modrack was summoned to care for the wounded boy.

When Mr. McVicar came up town his clothes were streaked with blood. Mr. Puncheon lives on Lincoln street, just south of Judge Phelps' residence.

The dog was not ugly in any way, but tried to play with the little Puncheon boy as he is accustomed to do with Conductor Thomas' son. His paw struck the youngster's face and caused the scratches.

MANY YOKES FOR WOMEN.

They Are Not Displeasing, However, For They Are of Lace and Ribbon.

Changeable silks and velvets have by no means retired from public favor. Some of the new velveteens are shown with a changeable effect, and even twilled worsted dress materials of this season often show the warp and woof of different colors similar to the style of goods prevalent last year. The fashion of making up black net or lace over changeable silk was a style lived one, although there seems to be no reason why it should not last as long as the separate materials are still popular. Net, however, is not so much used as it was, and the kind most favored is heavy and has a coarse mesh.

A great many yokes are worn, not only separate ones of lace and ribbon used as accessories of plain toilets, but yokes forming a part of the bodice. They may be round, square or pointed in shape and are often covered plainly with guipure, the edge being outlined by a bertha or some other sort of trimming. Sometimes the bodice has jacket fronts opening over a vest made with a yoke. The present fashion of trimming the corsage with a bertha of lace or other material gives the yoke effect to even an otherwise plain bodice and is a style to be avoided by short, stout women, as it broadens the shoulders and decreases the apparent height. The same effect of shortness is produced by the double skirts now insidiously creeping into favor. They are clumsy and heavy, moreover, but are destined to ultimately supplant plain skirts, although the latter hold their own as yet. Sometimes the overskirt is only simulated by a line of trimming, but more often it is real. It may be draped, or it may fall straight, allowing only a small portion of the lower skirt to be seen. A separate skirt or peplum is sometimes worn over a plain skirt, giving the overskirt effect, which may be dispensed with at pleasure.

A sketch is given of a costume composed of old rose and blue changeable velvet and old rose peau de soie. The front of the peau de soie skirt is cut in an irregular point, showing an underskirt of velvet. The edge of the silk skirt is embroidered with gold beads, while the bottom of the gown is bordered with a velvet ruching. The round velvet bodice has a plain back, but in front it is gathered in at the waist and has a deep silk yoke outlined with a velvet ruching. The sleeves have a full puff of velvet from shoulder to elbow, but the lower part is close fitting and covered with a wrinkled arrangement of peau de soie. The bodice hooks invisibly on the left shoulder and under the arm.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FOR WOMAN, LOVELY WOMAN.

New Fans, New Gloves and a New Coiffure With a Dragon Fly.

A number of beautiful folding fans are shown this season. There is a return to the wattleau fashion of delicately painted medallions depicting rural or country scenes, and the body of the fan upon which these medallions are set is of gauze or lace decorated with ornamental patterns or adorned with small spangles of gold or silver. These fans, different in style, but similar in dainty elaboration, seem to be obtaining the ascendancy over the large ones made of curling ostrich plumes, which were not long ago the reigning favorites.

Among the pretty things shown for the neck are adjustable yokes or wide collars composed of alternate lengthwise bands of lace insertion and satin ribbon. They are pointed back and front and are trimmed with frills of lace around the edge. The feather boa is still imported and offered for sale, although it is not as much worn as formerly, which is rather a pity, as it is a graceful and picturesque article of adornment. Its place has been partly filled by the large moire cravats and pierrot ruffs. The latter appear separately as well as attached to outer garments and are made of double faced satin ribbon very thickly box plaited.

The new gloves are mainly in four button length, and suede, which once monopolized fashionable favorites, is now very properly considered more suitable for dress occasions than for everyday wear. For the street glaze kid is preferred and is shown in tans, browns, grays and brick red, and also in various pronounced shades of purple and green. Long suede and silk evening gloves appear in delicate tints, with large butterflies of black or white real lace applied on the arms.

Parasols covered with fluffy frills and drapings of crepe and silk muslin are as fashionable this year as they were last.

Velvet bands and ribbons continue to be worn in the hair. A sketch is given of a prettily arranged evening coiffure. A bow of ribbon having two erect ends is fastened above the carelessly waved front hair, and at the middle of the ribbon knot a dragon fly is poised. JUDIC CHOLLET.

According to His Experience.

Mr. McSwab was kindling the fire in the cook stove the other morning when an early tramp made his appearance at the kitchen door and asked for something to eat.

"I haven't anything for you, my friend," was the reply he got, "except a doughnut that seems to have been left over from yesterday."

"A doughnut," replied the tramp, "ain't much for a hungry man."

"One of my wife's doughnuts," replied Mr. McSwab, with the firmness and decision of a man who knew what he was talking of, "will be about all you will want to tackle."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

All a Matter of Comparison.

G.A.R. NOTICE

We take this opportunity of informing our subscribers that the new Commissioner of Pensions has been appointed. He is an old soldier, and we believe that soldiers and their heirs will receive justice at his hands. We do not anticipate that there will be any radical changes in the administration of pension affairs under the new regime.

We would advise, however, that U. S. soldiers, sailors, and their heirs, take steps to make application at once, if they have not already done so, in order to secure the benefit of the early filing of their claims in case there should be any future pension legislation. Such legislation is seldom retroactive. Therefore it is of great importance that applications be filed in the department at the earliest possible date.

If U. S. soldiers, or their widows, children, or parents desire information in regard to pension matters, they should write to the Press Claims Company at Washington, D. C., and they will prepare and send the necessary application, if they find them entitled under the numerous laws enacted for their benefit. Address:

SERMON ON CHRIST IN THE TABERNACLE

TALMAGE PREACHES OF THE CHARACTER OF JESUS.

The Subject of the Sermon Being
"Fairness of the Fair." From the Text:
Solomon's Song, v. 16—Conception of Christ's Looks.

The human face has during centuries been improving. For a while it deflected and degenerated, and from all I can read for ages the whole tendency was toward barbarism. But under the ever widening and deepening influence of Christianity the tendency is now in the upward direction. The physical appearance of the human race is 75 per cent more attractive than in the sixteenth, seventeenth or eighteenth centuries. From the pictures on canvas and the faces and forms in sculpture of those who were considered the grand looking men and the attractive women of 200 years ago, I conclude the superiority of the men and women of our time. Such looking people of the past centuries as painting and sculpture have presented as fine specimens of beauty and dignity would be in our time considered deformity and repulsiveness complete. The fact that many men and women in antediluvian times were eight and ten feet high tended to make the human race obnoxious rather than winning. Such portable mountains of human flesh did not add to the charms of the world.

But in no climate and in no age did there ever appear any one who in physical attractiveness could be compared to him whom my text celebrates, thousands of years before he put his infantile foot on the hill back of Bethlehem. He was, and is, altogether lovely. The physical appearance of Christ is, for the most part, an artistic guess. Some writers declare him to have been a brunette or dark complexioned, and others a blonde or light complexioned. St. John, of Damascus, writing 1,100 years ago, and so much nearer than ourselves to the time of Christ, and hence with more likelihood of accurate tradition, represents him with beard black and curly, eye-brows joined together, and "yellow complexion, and long fingers like his mother." An author writing 1,500 years ago represents Christ as a blonde: "His hair the color of wine and golden at the root; straight and without luster; but from the level of the ears curling and glossy, and divided down the center after the fashion of the Nazarenes. His forehead is even and smooth, his face without blemish, and enhanced by a tempered bloom; his countenance ingenuous and kind. Nose and mouth are in no way faulty. His beard is full, of the same color as his hair, and forked in form; his eyes blue and extremely brilliant."

My opinion is it was a Jewish face. His mother was a Jewess, and there is no womanhood on earth more beautiful than Jewish womanhood. Alas! that he lived so long before the Daguerrean and photographic arts were born; or we might have known his exact features. I know that sculpture and painting were born long before Christ, and they might have transferred from olden times to our times the forehead, the nostril, the eye, the lips of our Lord. Phidias the sculptor put down his chisel of enchantment 500 years before Christ came. Why did not some one take up that chisel, and give us the side face or full face of our Lord? Polygnotus the painter put down his pencil 400 years before Christ. Why did not some one take it up, and give us at least the eye of our Lord, the eye, that sovereign of the face? Dionysius the literary artist who saw at Heliopolis, Egypt, the strange darkening of the heavens at the time of Christ's crucifixion near Jerusalem, and not knowing what it was, but describing it as a peculiar eclipse of the sun, and saying, "Either the Deity suffers or sympathizes with some sufferer," that Dionysius might have put his pen to the work, and drawn the portrait of our Lord. But no! the fine arts were busy perpetuating the form and appearance of the world's favorites only, and not the form and appearance of the peasant, among whom Christ appeared.

It was not until the fifteenth century, or until more than fourteen hundred years after Christ, that talented painters attempted by pencil to give us the idea of Christ's face. The pictures before that time were so offensive that the council at Constantinople forbade their exhibition. But Leonardo Da Vinci, in the fifteenth century presented Christ's face on two canvases, yet the one was a repulsive face, and the other an effeminate face. Raphael's face of Christ is a weak face. Albert Durer's face of Christ was a savage face. Titian's face of Christ is an expressionless face. The mightiest artists, either with pencil or chisel, have made signal failure in attempting to give the forehead, the cheek, the eyes, the nostril, the mouth of our blessed Lord.

But about his face I can tell you something positive, and beyond controversy. I am sure it was a soulful face. The face is only the curtain of the soul. It was impossible that a disposition like Christ's should not have demonstrated itself in his physiognomy. Kindness as an occasional impulse may give no illumination to the features, but kindness as the lifelong, dominant habit will produce attractiveness of countenance as certainly as the shining of the sun produces flowers. Children are afraid of a scowling or hard-visaged man. They cry out if he proposes to take them. If he tries to caress them, he evokes a slap rather than a kiss. All mothers know how hard it is to get their children to go to a man or woman of forbidding appearance. But no sooner did Christ appear in the domestic group than there was an infantile excitement, and the youngsters began to struggle to get out of their mother's arms. They could not hold the children back. "Stand back with those children!" scolded some of the disciples. Perhaps the little ones may have been playing in the dirt, and their faces may not have been clean, or they may not have been well clad, or the disciples may have thought Christ's religion was a religion chiefly for big folks. But Christ made the infantile excitement still livelier by his saying that he liked children better than grown people, declaring, "Except ye become as a little child ye can not enter into the kingdom of God." Alas! for those people who do not like children. They had better stay out of heaven, for the place is full of them. That, I think, is one reason why the vast majority of the human race die in infancy. Christ is so fond of children that he takes time to himself before the world has time to despoil and harden them, and so they are now at the windows of the palace, and on the doorsteps, and playing on the green. Sometimes Matthew, or Mark, or Luke tells a story of Christ, and only one tells it, but Matthew, Mark and Luke all join in that picture of Christ girdled by children, and I know by what occurred at that time that Christ had a face full of geniality.

Not only was Christ altogether lovely in his countenance, but lovely in his habits. I know, without being told, that the Lord who made the rivers, and lakes, and oceans, was cleanly in his appearance. He disliked the disease of leprosy, not only because it was distressing, but because it was not clean, and his curative words were, "I will be thou clean." He declared himself in favor of thorough washing, and opposed to superficial washing, when he denounced the hypocrites for making clean only "the outside of the plate," and he applauded his disciples by saying, "Now are ye clean," and giving directions to those who fasted, among other things he says, "Wash thy face;" and to a blind man whom he was doctoring, "Go wash in the pool of Siloam." And he himself actually washed the disciples' feet, I suppose not only to demonstrate his own humility, but probably their feet needed to be washed. The fact is, the Lord was a great friend of water. I know that from the fact that most of the world is water. But when I find Christ in such constant commendation of water, I know he was personally neat, although he mingled much among very rough populations, and took such long journeys on dusty highways. He wore his hair long, according to the custom of his land and time, but neither trouble nor old age had thinned or injured his locks, which were never worn shaggy or unkempt. Yea, all his habits of personal appearance were lovely.

Sobriety was also an established habit of his life. In addition to the water he drank the juice of the grape. When at a wedding party this beverage gave out, he made gallons on gallons of grape juice, but it was as unlike what the world makes in our time as health is different from disease, and as calm pulses are different from the paroxysms of delirium tremens. There was no strychnine in that beverage, or logwood, or nux vomica. The tippers and the sots who now quote the wine-making in Cana of Galilee as an excuse for the fiery and damning beverages of the nineteenth century forget that the wine at the New Testament wedding had two characteristics, the one that the Lord made it, and the other that it was made out of water. Buy all you can of that kind and drink it at least three times a day, and send a barrel of it around to my cellar. You can not make me believe that the blessed Christ who went up and down healing the sick, would create for man that style of drink which is the cause of disease more than all other causes combined; or that he who calmed the maniacs into their right mind, would create that style of drink which does more than anything else to fill insane asylums; or that he who was so helpful to the poor, would make a style of drink that crowds the earth with pauperism; or that he who came to save the nations from sin, would create a liquor that is the source of most of the crime that now stuffs the penitentiaries. A lovely sobriety was written all over his face, from the hair-line of the forehead to the bottom of the bearded chin.

Domesticity was also his habit. Though too poor to have a home of his own, he went out to spend the night at Bethany, two or three miles walk from Jerusalem, and over a rough and hilly road that made it equal to six or seven ordinary miles, every morning and night going to and fro. I would rather walk from here to Central park, or walk from Edinburgh to Arthur's Seat, or in London clear around Hyde Park, than to walk that road that Christ walked twice a day from Jerusalem to Bethany. But he liked the quietude of home life, and he was lovely in his domesticity.

How he enjoyed handling over the resurrected boy to his mother, and the resurrected girl to her father, and reconstructing homesteads which disease or death was breaking up. As the song, "Home, Sweet Home," was written by a man who at that time had no home, so I think the homelessness of Christ added to his appreciation of domesticity.

Furthermore, he was lovely in his sympathies. Now, dropsy is a most distressing complaint. It inflames, and swells, and tortures any limb or physical organ it touches. As soon as a case of that kind is submitted to Christ, he, without any use of diaphoretics, commands its cure. And what an eye doctor he was for opening the long-closed gates of sight to the blue of the sky, and the yellow of the flower, and the emerald of the grass! What a Christ he was for cooling fevers without so much as a spoonful of febrifuge; and straightening crooked backs without any pang of surgery; and standing whole choirs of music along the silent galleries of a deaf ear; and giving healthful nervous system to cataleptics! Sympathy! He did not give them stoical advice, or philosophize about the science of grief. He sat down and cried with them.

It is spoken of as the shortest verse in the Bible, but to me it is about the longest and grandest—"Jesus wept." Ah! many of us know the meaning of that. When we were in great trouble, some one came in with voluble consolation and quoted the scripture in a sort of heartless way, and did not help us at all. But after a while some one else came in, and without saying a word sat down and burst into a flood of tears at the sight of our woe, and somehow it helped us right away. "Jesus wept." You see, it was a deeply-attached household, that of Mary and Martha, and Lazarus. The father and mother were dead, and the girls depended on their brother. Lazarus had said to them, "Now Mary, now Martha, stop your worrying. I will take care of you. I will be to you both father and mother. My arm is strong. Girls, you can depend on me!"

John Murphy! Well, you did not know him. Once, when I was in great bereavement, he came to my house. Kind ministers of the gospel had come and talked beautifully and prayed with us, and did all they could to console. But John Murphy, one of the best friends I ever had, a big-souled, glorious Irishman, came in and looked into my face, put out his broad, strong hand and said not a word, but sat down and cried with us. I am not enough of a philosopher to say how it was, or why it was, but somehow from door to door and from floor to ceiling the room was filled with an all-pervading comfort. "Jesus wept."

I think that is what makes Christ such a popular Christ. There are so many who want sympathy. Miss Fiske, the famous Nestorian missionary, was in the chapel one day talking to the heathen, and she was in very poor health, and so weak she sat upon a mat while she talked, and felt the need of something to lean against, when she felt a woman's form at her back, and heard a woman's voice saying, "Lean on me." She leaned a little, but did not want to be too cumbersome, when the woman's voice said, "Lean hard, if you love me, lean hard." And that makes Christ so lovely. He wants all the sick and troubled, and weary to lean against him, and he says, "Lean hard, if you love me, lean hard." Aye, he is close by with his sympathetic help. Hedley Vicars, the famous soldier and Christian of the Crimean war, died because when he was wounded his regiment was too far off from the tent of supplies. He was not mortally wounded, and if the surgeons could only have got at the bandages and the medicines, he would have recovered. So much of human sympathy and helpfulness comes too late; but Christ is always close by if we want him, and has all the medicines ready, and has eternal life for all who ask for it. Sympathy!

Aye, he was lovely in his doctrines. Self-sacrifice, or the relief of the suffering of others by our own suffering. He was the only physician that ever proposed to cure his patients by taking their disorders. Self-sacrifice! And what did he not give up for others? The best climate in the universe, the air of heaven, for the wintry weather of Palestine; a scepter of unlimited dominion for a prisoner's box in an earthly courtroom, a flashing tiara for a crown of stinging brambles; a palace for a cattle pen; a throne for a cross. Self-sacrifice! What is more lovely? Mothers dying for their children down with scarlet fever; railroad engineers going down through the open drawbridge to save the train; firemen scorched to death trying to help some one down the ladder from the fourth story of the consuming house; and these put together only faint and insufficient similes by which to illustrate the grander, mightier, farther-reaching self-sacrifice of the "altogether lovely."

Do you wonder that the story of his self-sacrifice has led hundreds of thousands to die for him? In one series of persecutions over 200,000 were put to death for Christ's sake. For him Blandina was tied to a post and wild beasts were let out upon her, and when life continued after the attack of tooth and paw, she was put in a net, and that net containing her was thrown to a wild bull, that tossed her with its horns till life was extinct. All for Christ! Huguenots dying for Christ! Albigenes dying for Christ! The Vaudois dying for Christ! Smithfield fires endured for Christ! The bones of martyrs, if distributed, would make a path of molting life all around the earth. The loveliness of the Savior's sacrifice has inspired all the heroisms, and all the martyrdoms of subsequent centuries. Christ has had more men and women die for him than all the other inhabitants of all the ages have had die for them.

Furthermore, he was lovely in his sermons. He knew when to begin, when to stop, and just what to say. The longest sermon he ever preached, so far as the Bible reports him, namely, the Sermon on the Mount, was about sixteen minutes in delivery at the ordinary rate of speech. His longest prayer reported, commonly called "The Lord's Prayer," was about half a minute. Time them by your own watch, and you will find my estimate accurate. By which I do not mean to say that sermons ought to be only sixteen minutes long, and prayers only half a minute long. Christ had such infinite power of compression that he could put enough into his sixteen minute sermon, and his half minute prayer, to keep all the following ages busy in thought and action. No one but a Christ could afford to pray or preach as short as that, but he meant to teach us compression.

The number of women lawyers in the United States is now more than 100.

The empress of Russia wears everything small and neat, to harmonize with her delicate personality. Pale blue, mauve and green are her favorite colors.

Five-sixths of all the girls who went into domestic service in London last year had never heard of a tooth brush. Examination also showed that but 707 school children out of 4,000 had sound teeth.

Miss Eliza Work, of Henrietta, N. Y., who is a centenarian, attributes her long life to the fact that she never drank tea or coffee or never got married. Miss Work, however, had a married brother who lived to be 101 years.

The first and only doctress of law in France is Mlle. Jeanne Chanim. As an order of the rector of the academy of Paris forbids women pupils having copies of the code, Mlle. Chanim's instructions to the classes are wholly oral.

The empress of Japan is said to be one of the most tactful royal consorts in the Orient. She is sweet and womanly and devoted to children. She supports several public institutions for the care and education of foundlings.

The king of Assam has 200 wives, who are divided into nine classes. When one of these ladies dies her body is let down over the palace walls to be buried. It is against the law for a dead body to be carried through the doors.
